 Real World

I love you can take the exam at home and use your resources to answer the question.

Posted 6/4/11 by Gregory Monivis Jr from Seffner, FL

 very detail oriented, interesting, glad I took it!

Read the book, then watched the DVD, very detail oriented, the level of instruction was great. I have been teaching classes for a long time but needed to certify to continue at my present gym and this provided me with what I needed to be certified.

Posted 4/12/11 by Melanie from Macungie, PA

 Informative Instruction

I felt the book and the video prepared me fully for the examination, and has given me confidence to instruct others in indoor cycling.

Posted 3/7/11 by Amy from Cleona, PA

 Covering all the material

The cycling certification covered all the concerns that a beginning instructor should have.

Posted 2/25/11 by Dean DiMarco from Lexington, KY

 Great overall questions & awesome review of material!

Posted 2/22/11 by Wendy from Pleasant Grove, UT

 Fast...informative and totally worth it!

I am an experienced indoor cycler with a desire to teach. FiTours has given me the certification I need to move forward and inspire others as an official insstructor. I was so impressed, I already signed up for the Hatha Yoga certification!

Posted 2/2/11 by Tina Manus from Stratford, CT

Great Workshop, and Motivating Trainer

Jen Smith was awesome, and it encouraged me to be a better cycling instructor. I have been 'dreaming' of becoming one for over a year, and am excited to put my experience and training to the test. If I could be JUST LIKE JEN I would! THANK YOU!

Posted 10/13/10 by Jami Skiver from Springfield, OR

Cycling Certification course recommended!

I took the Johnny G certification four years ago and have been teaching cycling since. However, I needed to be re-certified since I didn't keep up my CEUs. The Fitour certification not only covers everything the other cert did and more. I learned new and interesting drills and I love the sample classes provided in the book. The DVD is like attending the all-day workshop in the comfort of your own home. Plus, I purchased the certification for half price during a promotion. What a great value! If you've never taught before, I recommend taking other experienced instructors' classes in addition to completing this certification. You still need practical experience to apply what you've learned in this course.

 clear and informative

Posted 4/30/09 by lisa harlow from liberty hill, TX

 Easy, fast and convenient

The program arrived quickly after I ordered. It is easy to follow and convenient to do from home. I spent months trying to find indoor cycling certifications; there were few options and all would have cost 3 or 4 times as much money, in addition to hours of travel. The only problems I had were that my video stopped and skipped through some portions and that the connection went bad mid-test; I was able to re-connect at the appropriate place in the test and complete it on time.

Posted 2/12/12 by Anonymous

Question #60 should be looked at. The book does not list Gluteus Maximus as a muscle used at the Top Dead Point.

Posted 12/14/11 by Fred Ridgeway from Bella Vista, AR

 Concise Certification!

Very informative yet concise. Enjoyed our time in class with Macey Miller. She put on a good class that taught not only the basics but also a lot of her own helpful hints into the class...Thanks!

Posted 11/14/10 by Joan from Sumter, SC

 Informative and Successful

This certification was the least stressful. I have always struggled with anticipation of the pressure I put on myself when testing. Just knowing that I had time after the initial class reduced that pressure and I was able to enjoy it more. The whole experience with the way FiTour has designed this type of certification was very positive. Thank you.
